ABOUT THE WORKSHOP: This course is geared to all levels of experience in drawing. The beginning student will learn the tried and true method of "Drawing From The Right Side Of The Brain" in pencil. The student will learn the method in just one class and we will move forward from there. The intermediate to advanced students are encouraged to work from their own photos or from those that I provide. Any dry medium is acceptable such as graphite, charcoal, colored pencil, or pastel. Students will also learn more about composition, value structure, edges, volume and depth. Our last class will take place at the Booth Museum where we have been invited to bring our drawing pads and are encouraged to draw from the art and statuary in the various galleries.
