ABOUT THE ARTIST:

Ray Roberts is a western artist who gives life and movement to his seascapes and landscapes. The natural scenery of California inspired him to paint the landscapes he saw. Roberts is known to set up his easel on the edge of a cliff or in the surf to capture luminous light and magnificent, vanishing landscapes. His use of vibrant colors, bold textures, and subtle shifting patterns of light are meant to perceive motion and bring the picture to life. Like many landscape painters, Roberts depicts a spiritual and admiring connection with nature in his paintings.
