

Booth Western Art Museum (Booth) is pleased to offer complimentary absentee bidder service for our annual For the Love of Art Gala as a courtesy to collectors/patrons who cannot attend the auction. Booth will bid in a competitive nature for you as if you were in the crowd bidding for yourself. Please see the terms for proxy bidding below.

1. By placing this/these proxy bid(s), I hereby authorize Booth and its agents to bid on my behalf and try to purchase the artwork or item(s) listed below for the lowest possible price. I understand that Booth will bid starting at the reserve/minimum bid and increase as necessary in increments up to the maximum amount of my bid.
2. I understand that due to the competitive and incremental nature of bidding a piece may sell for my maximum bid amount and I may not be the winning bidder. I understand that if identical proxy bids are submitted, Booth will give precedence to the first one received. I understand that Booth will not be held responsible for any errors or failure to execute bids.
3. Proxy bidders will be contacted with auction results by email within three business days following the auction.
4. I agree that, if my bid is successful, my credit card will be immediately charged the full amount plus any applicable local and Georgia state taxes, which may not apply for shipping out of state.
5. If packing, shipping, and shipping insurance are required, Booth will contact you with options. I agree I will be responsible to promptly choose an option and pay those charges. If I am not contacted by Booth, I will contact Booth within 5 business days from the date of the sale to make shipping arrangements for my auction purchases. I agree to be responsible for any and all damages to the artwork from the time artwork is received by the carrier to the date of delivery, including any and all damages incurred in delivery and/or transportation of artwork to proxy bidder.
